

Bordewich Bray fifth graders pay visit to Children's Museum

COURTESY

Fifth graders from Bordewich Bray Elementary got some hands-on biology lessons on Tuesday at the Children's Museum of Northern Nevada. The field trip was made possible by a donation from Adams Hub for Innovation and the Hop and Mae Adams Foundation. Students learned about Northern Nevada owl species, in particular, the great horned owl. They learned about the owl's digestive habits and common components of its diet. The students also dissected owl pellets and identified which animals were consumed.

Carson City conducting survey concerning Eagle Valley Golf Course

Nevada Appeal staff report

Carson City wants your opinion on the Eagle Valley Golf Course.

The city has posted a 20-question survey online, available via a link at the top of the homepage at carson.org.

The golf course is owned by the city and currently managed by Carson City Municipal Golf Corp., and its contract expires at the end of 2017.

The city is preparing a request for proposal to solicit bids for a new contract.

"The survey is important to us as we finalize some of the wording in the RFP," said Nick Marano, Carson City manager.

The deadline to fill out the survey is Oct. 9.
