

REACH FOR THE STARS

The new mural at Empire Elementary School completed by artist Bryce Chisholm, presented Friday in a ribbon-cutting held with Carson City School District officials and the Carson City's Department of Arts and Culture, is meant to encourage students to "reach for the stars to achieve their dreams," according to staff members. It also contains the school's logo, the mustang, at the right of the mural.

BOTTOM: From left to right, school board president Stacy Wilke, Superintendent Richard Stokes, Arts and Culture director Mark Salinas, Empire Principal Susan Squires, muralist Bruce Chisholm, city supervisor Lori Bagwell and school trustee Lupe Ramirez prepare the cut the ribbon at Friday's presentation of the mural created by Chisholm.

PHOTOS BY JESSICA GARCIA/
NEVADA APPEAL

