

Sisolak raises limit on gatherings from 50 to 250

By Geoff Dornan | gdornan@nevadaappeal.com

Gov. Steve Sisolak is lifting the limits on public gatherings in Nevada from 50 people to 250 in churches and other venues.

He said Tuesday evening larger gatherings also will be allowed in event centers that have fixed seating for more than 2,500 people, "under very strict guidelines."

He said venues including Thomas & Mack and Lawlor Events Center as well as major centers like T-Mobile which seats 20,000 could hold events up to 10 percent of their fixed seating capacity. But in those gatherings, attendees would be divided into sections of no more than 250 people and have controls in place to prevent people from moving from one section to

TAKING IT TO THE STREETS

JESSICA GARCIA/NEVADA APPEAL

Carson High School students held a pep rally Monday night at the Nevada State Capitol to celebrate Homecoming Week. For more photos, see page A3.

CARSON HIGH PEP RALLY

JESSICA GARCIA/NEVADA APPEAL

Carson High School's Blue Thunder marching band, Cheer and Student Council held a pep rally Monday night at the Nevada State Capitol with cars passing by honking in support and crowds watching across the street from favorite eateries including the Fox Brewpub. The band performed "The Hey Song," "Land of 1000 Dances," "24K Magic" and "Runaway Baby" as the members of this year's homecoming court promoted themselves as candidates with signs they'd made. The cheer squad also performed and shouted out to passersby along the street in spirit. School administrators came by the Capitol in support of the students filming their performances for the hour-long rally managed by Blue Thunder director Nicolas Jacques. The band also will be holding a fundraiser from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. next Tuesday at Pizza Factory and will receive 20 percent of sales throughout the day, according to Paula Doty, mother of band drum major Emma Doty.

Lake Tahoe drowning victim pulled from 1,565-foot deep water

The Associated Press

LAKE TAHOE — The body of a man who apparently drowned last month has been recovered from 1,565-foot deep water in Lake Tahoe, according to authorities.

South Lake Tahoe Police Department officials said the recovery was the deepest ever recorded in Lake Tahoe, which is the second-deepest lake in the United States and fourth-deepest in North America at a maximum depth of 1,645 feet.

Police told the Reno Gazette Journal that an empty rented boat washed ashore in Glenbrook on Aug. 10.

Investigators found that 29-year-old Ryan Normoyle had recorded himself jumping off the boat and the boat had been left in gear, moving away from him slowly.

They said Normoyle was unable to swim fast enough to catch up to the boat before drowning.

After several days of unsuccessful searches for the body, Normoyle's family sought the help of a nonprofit organization that specializes in underwater body recoveries.

Normoyle's body was located Saturday using GPS coordinates collected from his phone and recovered Monday.

El Charro Avitia's
COUPON

Buy 1 House Margarita
Get 2nd House

El Charro Avitia's
COUPON

Buy 1 Lunch or Dinner
Get the 2nd Lunch or Dinner

We Specialize in Large and Dangerous Tree Removal

CHRIS MCRAE'S TREE SERVICE
775.720.5978
CHRISMCAESTREESERVICE.COM chrismctree@charter.net

- Pruning • Trimming • Crown Reduction
- Stump Removal • Emergency Service

All Phases of Tree Work • No Job Too Big!

SCHEDULE YOUR FALL PRUNING BEFORE SNOW COMES.
CALL TODAY FOR YOUR FREE ESTIMATE!

New Store Hours:
10-5 Tuesday through Saturday

BEST Vitamin Herbal Store

DuBois'
Health Food Center & Herb Shoppe

201 E William Street, Suite 1
775.882.2451 | www.duboishealth.com

Like Us On Facebook!

Frankie DRAKE MYSTERIES

NEW SERIES